

Funded by the European Union

So.Re.Com. Joint-IDP project

Core Executive Committee Preliminary Assessment of Candidatures

As indicated in Annex I of the grant agreement, the selection is a multistep process based on:

- a) the comparative analysis of the application dossier by the members of the Core Executive Committee (30 points)
- b) an interview with the Recruitment Board composed of the SoReCom Joint IDP Scientific co-ordinator – sole responsible for the final ESR's admission of applicants – and other members of the Scientific Supervisory Board (30 points)

For both steps the evaluation has been made on the basis of the scientific quality of applications, the compatibility of the applicants background and required language skills with the research topics offered in the vacancy.

After having examined all the candidature dossiers the members of the Core Executive Committee held a Skype meeting on the 23 February 2015 to perform a preliminary assessment of the applications and to appoint the members of the Recruitment Board.

The Core Executive Committee is composed of:

1. Prof. Annamaria de Rosa (Sapienza University of Rome, Italy)
2. Prof. Andrei Holman (University A.I. Cuza of Iasi, Romania)
3. Prof. Radim Marada (Masaryk University of Brno, Czech Republic)

1. Appointment of the Sapienza University Recruitment Board

The appointed members of the Recruitment Board for the selection of one position of Early Stage Researcher to be appointed as "assegnista di ricerca" for the EU-funded SoReCom Joint-IDP project (Grant Agreement PITN-GA-2013-607279) are the following:

1. Prof. Annamaria de Rosa (Sapienza University of Rome) – Chairman
2. Prof. Pedrinho Guareschi (Universidade Federal do Rio Grande Do Sul, FRGS, Brazil) – Member, visiting professor at the European/International Joint PhD in S.R. & C. Research Centre and Multimedia Lab from October 2014 to April 2015
3. Prof. Elena Bocci (Sapienza University of Rome) – Member
4. Dr. Laura Dryjanska (Sapienza University of Rome) – Member

upon consultation also of another member of the Scientific Supervisory Board:

5. Prof. Brigido Camargo (Universidade Federal de Santa Catarina, Brazil)

2. Preliminary assessment of the candidatures (listed by ranking order on the basis of the evaluation of the dossier)

See Table on next page.

Rome, 25 February 2015

Annamaria de Rosa
Scientific Coordinator
SoReCom Joint-IDP

Funded by the European Union

Name and Surname	Country	Gender	Eligibility	Notes	Evaluation
					Dossier	Ranking
Teresa Forte	Portugal	F	YES	Very Good CV. The strongest elements of her application – confirmed during the interview – are: a) the specific expertise in reviewing literature on Social Representations from Portugal and Brazil; b) the well focussed Project with a systematic literature review; c) good linguistic skills (including Portuguese as mother tongue, essential to carry out the research project, excellent English, intermediate Spanish and basic French); d) the advanced statistical skills for qualitative and quantitative analysis; e) previous experience in research collaboration	29/30	1°
Tânia Santos	Portugal	F	YES	Very Good CV, also including wide range of Linguistic Skills (Portuguese as mother tongue, essential to carry out the research project, excellent English, intermediate Spanish, basic French, Polish, German and Mandarin) and international mobility experience (in the U.K. at LSE, Hungary, Brazil and China) aimed at academic, teaching and community oriented activities. In spite of the no long-term specific background in Social Representations, the candidate is highly motivated in working and pursuing a PhD in this field. Well focussed project	28/30	2°
Marina Magalhães de Moraes	Brazil	F	YES (in 3 rd year of a PhD)	Qualified CV in the field of communication, but no background in Social Representations. Good linguistic (including Portuguese as mother tongue) and computer graphic skills. Already enrolled in the 3 rd year of a PhD in Lisbon. Weak project	25/30	3°
Juliana Batista Fitaroni	Brazil	F	YES (eligible for PhD enrolment in the Italian system, not yet in the Brazilian)	Good CV with specific background in Social Representations. Good linguistic skills (including Portuguese as mother tongue). Project related to area of S.R. of health, but not fully inserted into the unified research framework of the call. Complex relocation to Italy (Visa needed, completion of Master in Brazil)	25/30	4°
Lana Tomerlin	Croatia	F	YES	Background in Ethnology and Cultural Anthropology, but not in Social Representations. Professional experience outside the academic context, mainly as translator. Good linguistic skills (but not Portuguese which is important to carry out the research project). Well focussed project	24/30	5°
Marta Yáñez	Spain	F	YES (in 1 st year of a PhD)	Adequate CV in the field sociology and good statistical skills, but weak background in Social Representations. Limited linguistic skills (only Spanish and English B2). Already enrolled in the 1 st year of a PhD in Valencia. Weak project	22/30	6°