Sapienza Supervisory Board (Annamaria de Rosa, Bruno Mazzara, Giovanna Leone, Mauro Sarrica, Elena Bocci) devoted the meeting held in January 17, 2017 to share awareness about the current status of the SoReCom Joint-IDP and to discuss specific issues, taking decisions about the points included in the Agenda, as below:

- Information: result of the new elected ESRs' representatives
- a. Scientific Program and on-going organisation of the next Training Events:
 - i. 2017 Winter International Lab Meeting
 - ii. 2017 Spring International Lab Meeting
 - iii. 2017 International Summer School
- b. Assessment of the ESRs' research progress
- c. Schedule of the next individual co-supervision meetings with each ESR
- d. 2017 Final Jury
- e. Replies to questions addressed by the ESRs representatives:
 - i. Format and Timeline for thesis chapters/articles submission
 - ii. Extension for final thesis submission
 - iii. Deadline for International Journal submission of the articles
 - iv. Final jury
 - v. Seminar about transferable skills and post-doc career opportunities
- f. Schedule of next meeting of the Sapienza Supervisory Board

h: 14:00-14:30

Invited presentation by Shiella Cahig Balbutin (Philippine), enrolled in the 1st year of the European/International Joint PhD on Social Representations and Communication, supported by Sapienza 3 years fellowship.

Meeting of the integrated SoReCom Joint-IDP Sapienza Supervisory Board January 17, 2017 (h: 12:30-14:00)

Three SoReCom Joint-IDP ESRs (the new ESR representative Teresa Forte, Portugal and to the confirmed ESRs Ana Tomicic, Croatia, and Laura Arhiri, Romania) have had a joint meeting with the integrated Sapienza Supervisory Board (from Sapienza University, Italy: Annamaria de Rosa, Bruno Mazzara, Giovanna Leone, Mauro Sarrica, Elena Bocci, and from a non-academic partner IFSTTAR, France: Sylvain Lassarre).

Below the AGENDA of the meeting:

- Welcome to the new and confirmed ESR's representatives
- Next Training Events:
 - 2017 Winter International Lab Meeting
 - 2017 Spring International Lab Meeting
 - 2017 International Summer Schools
- Replies to questions addressed by the ESRs representatives
- Schedule of the next individual co-supervision meeting with each ESR
- Schedule of the next meetings of the Integrated and Restricted Supervisory Board

The SoReCom Joint-IDP Training Events 32nd International Lab Meeting - Winter Session 2017 (Rome - Italy, 30th January – 1st February 2017)

The organisational formula of the 2017 Winter Session was driven by two main objectives:

a. Taking a stock of the SoReCom Joint-IDP research progress and next milestones an introductory lecture was given by prof. Annamaria de Rosa, following the Welcome Address to the participants at the laboratory and connected online, including the new doctoral trainees enrolled in the a.y. 2016-17.

The best way to take a stock of the SoReCom Joint-IDP has been offered by the ESRs' presentation of the current status of their research progress and thesis elaboration (in agreement with the e-mail sent to them on December 22, 2016), followed by feedbacks and discussion with the members of Sapienza Supervisory Board and all participants. In the 2017 edition the ESRs' presentations have reflected not only the accomplishment of the original approved project goals, corresponding to the three main foci of the overall research program (geo-cultural, paradigmatic and thematic), but in some cases also the deviation from it due to the free interpretation of the individualisation of the project by some of the ESRs.

i. “Mapping the impact and dissemination of the social representation theory across different geo-cultural contexts”:

- “Latin America”: the most fertilised scenario by Teresa Forte (Portugal)
- “North-America and other continents (Oceania, Asia, Africa), the new emerging scenarios” by Mihaela Alexandra Gherman (Romania), who sent her presentation, but was absent due to health problems

N.B. The focus on “Europe”: the homeland in this 2017 edition was missed taking into account the new focus developed by Ana Tomicic (Croatia) “Value for Money? The crafting of a market-driven academia in Europe”.

ii. “Genesis and development of the different paradigmatic approaches in more than years of social representation theory: mapping theory, methods, thematic areas and applications”

- the “Structural paradigmatic approach” by Ioana Guralic (Romania)
- the “Socio-dynamic paradigmatic approach” by Marija Adela Gjorgjioska (Macedonia)
- the “Anthropological and ethnographic paradigmatic approach” ethnographic paradigmatic approach” by Laura Arhiri (Romania) who sent her presentation, but was absent due to health problems
- the “Dialogical, conversational and narrative paradigmatic approaches” by Maryia Kukharava (Belorussia)

N.B. The focus on “Modelling approach” in this 2017 edition has missed taking into account the new focus outside the original approved project developed by Agnese Pastorino (Italy) about “Online Audiovisual Risky Contents for Children within the European Parliamentary Debates”.

The SoReCom Joint-IDP Training Events

32nd International Lab Meeting - Winter Session 2017

(Rome - Italy, 30th January – 1st February 2017)

iii. “Taking stock of the Social Representations literature in various thematic fields of application”:

- “Science, Social Representations and Communication” by Aminat Ramazanova (Russia)
- “Social Representations and Environment” by Borja De Madaria Escudero (Spain)
- “Social Representations, Economy, Advertising, Marketing and Organizational Contexts” by Gabriela Monica Panzaru (Romania)
- “Social Representations & Politics: Multidimensional identities, intergroup relations, social movements and active minorities” by Filomena Berardi (Italia)

N.B. The focus on “Social Representations, Community & Health” in this 2017 edition was missed because Carlo Filiberto Aguilar (Mexico) cannot attend the event.

b. the introductive and advanced training in the meta-theoretical analysis, coherently with the different phases of the participant’s doctorate depending on their year of enrolment, including:

i. Session aimed at presenting the State of the Art of the Meta-theoretical Analysis of the Social Representations Literature and the SoReCom “A.S. de Rosa” @-library: Mission, tools and On-going Developments by prof. Annamaria de Rosa and dr. Laura Dryjanska

ii. Special session entitled “From the bibliographic repertory to the meta-theoretical analysis repertory and @-Library: How to perform a meta-theoretical analysis. Session reserved to research trainees enrolled in the 1st and 2nd years of the European/International Joint PhD in S.R. & C. “.

iii. Ssession aimed at “Sharing expertise on meta-theoretical analysis: challenging examples” including:

1. presentations by the Research Trainees enrolled in the 1st year of the list of articles they have chosen for the meta-theoretical analysis, and justification of the choice of these articles in relation to their research focus (about 20 minutes for each trainee) and feedbacks: * Shiella Balbutin (Philippines), Jessica Breau (Canada), Valeria Cuevas (Mexico), Andrei-Dobrea Razvan (Romania), Nathalie Plante (Canada).
2. presentations by the Research Trainees enrolled in the 2nd year  of an exemplary case among the articles that they have meta-theoretically analysed (about 20 minutes for each trainee connected via interactive) and feedbacks: * Diana Arghire (Romania), Anderson Mathias (Brazil), Corinne Buhay (France), Claude Lavoie (Canada), Hiram Reyes Sosa (Mexico).

The scientific program, enriched by the scientific texts, complementary and didactic materials, was available on the website at the link: <http://www.euophd.eu/html/onda02/07/31.01.00.00.shtml> and the participants in the event had the opportunity to download the texts in advance the event.

We are pleased to announce that the Colloque international en hommage à Serge Moscovici

Organized by the École des Hautes Etudes en Sciences Sociales will take place in Maison de l'Amérique latine in Paris, France from the 16th to 17th of March 2017

To honor Serge Moscovici, the Maison des Sciences de l'Homme Foundation organized a colloquium on the initiative of his sons Pierre and Denis, bringing together specialists from the various fields that Serge Moscovici has significantly innovated.

This prestigious event will include contributions from renown experts who have met Moscovici both as a person and as a scientist, contributing to disseminate and develop his innovative thinking and multiple theories.

There will be presentations by scholars from many European countries, North and Latin America, Asia and Africa.

This colloquium will build on the past to project itself into the future, continuing to analyze and reflect on the concerns and orientations of Serge Moscovici.
