Lectures by Risa Permandeli in Kyiv

It is a pleasure to disseminate information about two open lectures given by Risa Permanadeli, Director of Center of Social Representations Studies, Jakarta-Indonesia) in Kyiv (Ukraine). Although the lectures were held some months ago (October 2016) and we have received this news only recently, it may be interesting for the members of the SoReCom THEmatic NETwork to be informed about the research interest of our colleague and friend Risa due to the actuality of the topics addressed.

Lectures by Risa Permandeli in Kyiv

On October 24th the lecture “Social Imaginaries of Modernity. Post-colonial regard on Indonesian society” was delivered at National Pedagogical University named after M.P. Dragomanov. Academic stuff, PhD students and students of the university actively participated in discussion not just about Indonesia, but also about the differences of positions of the West and the East in their social thinking. For this purpose Risa relied on the result of her researches on Javanese society, which was assumed to influence the architecture of modern Indonesia.

The Javanese kingdom is the only local power which resisted to colonial power, and that is why after the independence the Indonesian adopted the Javanese notion of power to welcome the modernization. Indonesia was occupied by the Dutch for more than 3,5 centuries.

On October 25th the lecture “Culture, belief system, and national identity in Indonesia” was delivered in Institute of Social and Political Psychology, NAES of Ukraine. Researchers and PhD students discussed the study in the Bugis society in South Sulawesi which allows to see how complexity of a nationhood is built on the principle of diversity. This research also shows how fragile are the notions of “state” and “nation” that have been adopted from the West when they are applied roughly to Indonesian's context.
